

Public Disclosure of Prudential Information in accordance with APRA Prudential Standard APS 330

This report has been prepared by the Traditional Credit Union (the “Credit Union”) to meet its disclosure requirements under the Australian Prudential Regulatory Authority (“APRA”) Australian Prudential Standard (“APS”) 330 Capital Adequacy: Public disclosure of Prudential Information. Under APS 330, the Credit Union is required to disclose information about its remuneration.

APRA is the prudential regulator of the Australian financial services industry. The fundamental role of APRA is to ensure the stability of the financial industry, primarily through the establishment and enforcement of prudential standards.

Qualitative disclosures

The Board of Directors of the Credit Union has established the Board Nomination and Remuneration Committee (the “Committee”) to oversee the implementation of the Remuneration Policy. The Committee comprises nine members, of whom are independent directors. Each member of the Committee will be appointed for an initial term of three years, or shorter if circumstances dictate.

The Board of Directors will retain overall and ultimate responsibility for remuneration and the Committee will assist the Board by oversight, implementation and review of the remuneration policy and charter. The Committee will make recommendations to the Board on the individual remuneration of, at a minimum, any person/s appointed as Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and his or her direct reports and responsible persons as defined in the Fit and Proper Policy (excluding Non-Executive Directors and the External Auditor). The Committee will recommend on the remuneration of other persons who in the Committee’s view may be able to affect the financial soundness of the Credit Union. The Committee is able to obtain advice from both internal and external sources to facilitate remuneration management. The Board delegated the CEO the responsibility for determining the remuneration arrangements for the Credit Union’s employees.

The Committee has reviewed the risks and remuneration structures and considers the following employees responsible persons in accordance with its remuneration policy.

Responsible Persons	Notes
Chief Executive Officer	Tony Hampton
Chief Operating Officer	John Appleby
Chief Financial Officer	Lily Ang

All responsible persons listed above are senior managers of the Credit Union. Senior Managers’ remuneration consists of fixed components comprising a base salary and superannuation benefits.

Material risk takers include persons for whom a significant portion of total remuneration is subject to bonus or performance based remuneration that may affect the financial soundness of the Credit Union. No person has been identified as a material risk taker for the period.

Remuneration Policy

Objectives

The Remuneration Policy sets out the Credit Union's objectives and policies in relation to remuneration arrangements, the structure of remuneration arrangements, who the policy covers, and related matters. The main objectives of the policy is to:

- attract and retain employees that are capable, motivated, have strategic vision, ability to drive growth while maintaining stability and financial soundness of the Credit Union;
- encourage behaviours that support the Credit Union's long term financial soundness and risk management framework (mainly in relation the variable or performance based components of remuneration); and
- ensure the remuneration arrangements are and remain compliant with the corporate governance requirements, including requirements under CPS 510.

Remuneration Arrangements

Five of the directors receive remunerations, where the other directors elected to not receive remunerations.

The Senior Managers, employees and directly retained contractors of the Credit Union remuneration consists of fixed components comprising a base salary and superannuation benefits.

Implementation and Review

The Board, through the Committee, together with management of the Credit Union intend to ensure the objectives and requirements of this policy are implemented. The Policy and Charter were reviewed during the period with no material changes made.
